1. OR Human Right Due Diligence Process

Introduction

Human rights are not only the fundamental rights that everyone deserves. Presently, society has given importance to rights and equality as well as diversity for gender, race, religion, etc. OR recognizes the importance of adhering to human rights principles and therefore is determined to operate its businesses in accordance with international human rights principles.

OR conducted a comprehensive human rights due diligence (HRDD), covering all areas of its own operations, subsidiaries, and joint ventures (in which OR has management control). The HRDD process will be conducted every 3 years through a systematic periodic review process.

The objectives of the HRDD is to identify human rights risks and impacts throughout the value chain and associated activities for all affected rights holders, which are employees, communities, suppliers & contractors, and customer/consumer. In 2024, the scope extends to vulnerable groups consisting of women, pregnant women, children, elderly, migrant workers, third-party employees, local communities, indigenous people, LGBTQI+, and people with disability. OR has also extended the scope of risk identification to new business relations (i.e., mergers, acquisitions, and joint ventures) in 2024.

OR Human Right Due Diligence Process

OR has established a human rights due diligence process including the following components:

- 1. Establish Policy Commitment: OR has established a Human Rights Policy that covers all OR's business operations (business activities, products, and services), subsidiary companies, and joint ventures with business relationships (OR companies from mergers and acquisitions).
- 2. Assess Actual and Potential Impacts: OR identifies and assesses human rights risks and impacts through the value chain and associated with production of products and services of OR, subsidiary companies, and joint ventures with business relationships (OR companies from mergers and acquisitions). We identify stakeholders whose human rights may be affected.
- 3. Integrate Findings and Take Appropriate Action: OR integrates findings through defining mitigation and remediation measures for human rights salient issues in order to effectively prevent and minimize human rights risks and impacts.
- 4. Track and Communicate Performance: The department responsible for oversight of human rights will track and monitor the implementation and effectiveness of measures assigned to prevent and mitigate human rights impacts to assess if they are effective in preventing and/or minimizing human rights risks and identify areas of improvement (if any). Results will then be reported to the management level and related departments for acknowledgement.
- 5. Remediate Adverse Impacts: OR recognizes that human rights violations, if they occur, may affect the Company's stakeholders. This may occur anywhere through the value chain and activities associated with the production of the products and services of OR and OR group. Thus, OR has put in place procedures to ensure access to remediation, including the establishment of complaint channels and identification of forms of compensation. Compensation may take the form of monetary compensation such as compensation for damages, as well as non-monetary forms, such as the creation of a Customer Relations Centre via telephone or website channels to take feedback, provide advice, enact corrective actions, and provide preliminary remediation to maintain the relationships between OR and all OR's stakeholders.
