Internal Carbon Pricing Guidelines

OR Internal Carbon Pricing Guidelines

Climate change impacts are spotted by consumers focusing, affects to consumer behavior changing and climate-related laws and regulations is changed such as carbon taxes. Consequently, OR puts the emphasize on climate-related risks which can affect the business operation. This is done by integrating the climate-related risks into enterprise risk management. This is to access the severity level and provide mitigation options to mitigate those risks and seeking opportunities in innovation or strategic developments to increase the business values.

OR sets out the key action plans by studying the requirements, regulations continuously to manage those risks and opportunities.

In addition, we also study the economic trends from national and international contexts, including Internal carbon pricing and new innovations etc.

Objectives to implement a carbon price in our organization

1. Incentivize consideration of climate-related issues in decision making
2. Drive low-carbon investment
3. Drive energy efficiency

GHG Scope covered

Our implement of internal carbon pricing covered GHG scope 1 and 2 . This is to align with our commitment, to fostering a healthy environment by actively reducing greenhouse gas emissions. The company has set ambitious targets to reduce direct (Scope 1) and indirect (Scope 2) greenhouse gas emissions by one-third from its 2022 baseline by 2030. Additionally, OR is dedicated to achieving net-zero emissions by 2050.
